

Advanced Tips and Tricks for Oregon Health Go Local Searchers

Oregon Health Go Local is a resource that is best utilized by browsing. However, there is occasion to use its search functionality. For these cases, please use this tip sheet to maximize your search capabilities and get better search results within Oregon Health Go Local.

The National Library of Medicine uses the Vivísimo Velocity search engine for its web pages including MedlinePlus and all of the Go Local projects. The search uses indexing in addition to the following information to retrieve results: service name, description, contact information, affiliated organization, and service area (on a county level). This means that if you use the Go Local vocabulary, you can be a better searcher. To familiarize yourself with the vocabulary, peruse the lists of Services by Providers, Facilities, and Services and the Services for Diseases and Health Issues on our home page. www.medlineplus.gov/oregon

- Use quotations to give priority to the search string, this will not, however, only search the phrase, but it will also search the separate words.
